

CERTIFICATE III IN ABORIGINAL SITE WORKS

ABOUT THE COURSE

The Certificate III in Aboriginal Sites Work (AHC32516) can provide opportunities for meaningful on country employment and better capacity for Aboriginal groups to manage their own cultural heritage.

Aboriginal Land Services has partnered with South Regional TAFE (RTO Code 52790) to deliver this nationally-recognised course. The training can be completed over 6-12 months and is tailored to individual needs. Training is delivered mostly on-country under the supervision of elders and trainers.

To be awarded the certificate students must complete 15 units made up of nine core units and six electives. Participants and Aboriginal Corporations can choose which electives best meet their aspirations and future employment requirements.

To find out about training delivery options, get in touch and we'll be happy to discuss the best way to get started.

UNIT IN COURSE INCLUDE

AHCASW301 Protect places of Aboriginal cultural significance

AHCASW302 Relate Aboriginal culture to sites work

AHCASW303 Identify and record Aboriginal sites, objects and...

AHCASW310 Move and store Aboriginal cultural material

AHCWHS301 Contribute to work health and safety processes

AHCASW306 Use technology in Aboriginal sites work

AHCASW304 Identify Indigenous culturally significant plants

AHCILM203 Record information about Country

AHCASW312 MAINTAIN AN ABORIGINAL CULTURAL SITE

For additional course information please visit:

<https://training.gov.au/Training/Details/AHC32516>

CAREER OPTIONS INCLUDE

- Cultural heritage field officers
- Aboriginal ranger
- Cultural manager/advisor
- Aboriginal tour guides
- Cultural centre workers
- Aboriginal development officers

